HVOB and [PIAS] Recordings announce ROCCO - an extended album to counteract a fast moving world.

ROCCO is the Viennese electronic duo's fourth album, but first to span over 13 tracks and multiple records/discs.

Like the previous two HVOB releases, ROCCO also takes a conceptual approach. Following the multimedia-based art project "Trialog" in 2015 and the cross-genre collaboration "Silk" in 2017, ROCCO relates 13 separate but dramaturgically connected narratives about letting go, farewells and new beginnings. The arc spans the entire format and uses the available space for an impressively diverse journey through the sound world of HVOB, from the fragility of the track „Bloom" to the rawness of „Butter".

HVOB have chosen the double album as a conscious statement for conceptional substance and artistic self-confidence, in contrast to the growing trend of disposable, fast-paced music consumption. In providing an extended platform to navigate their highly personal narrative, they invite the audience to listen with consideration, ignoring the barrage of online information we are thrown every day and facilitating complete immersion in an isolated journey of musical storytelling.

It is safe to say that ROCCO is a landmark achievement for Anna Müller and Paul Wallner as the band announce their signing to [PIAS] Recordings.

The first single from the album - the anthemic opening track "2nd World" - is released on November 27th 2018, followed by "Bloom" in January 2019.

Straight after the release of the album HVOB will embark upon their next world tour. The first European dates have already been confirmed, with more to follow. 2019 will also once again bring them to America, Asia, Australia and Africa.
